

A quadratic model provides a better local approximation when the input data is concentrated in a limited region

A. Data distributed across the full domain

B. Data concentrated in a local region

